Q NB asked how Members will be chosen to participate in the strategy review day planned for the New Year and identified that as much notice of the planned date would enable more to participate.

A It was agreed that we would wish to do this fairly with representation from regular participants in our activities but also from those who do not generally actively participate at present. It was confirmed that we would like to encourage the widest participation in the strategic review and that whilst for practical purposes we would probably need to limit the number in the room to around 40 participants we would facilitate contributions from Members by email, mail, on-line or other means as appropriate.

To give as much notice as possible, details of how Members can participate will be posted on our website, in the Talking News and posted out to Members once details of the day are finalised.
